Dr. Jake Sotiriadis is a global strategist and geopolitical expert who has advised prime ministers, generals, diplomats, and Fortune 500 CEOs. Currently a Nonresident Senior Fellow at the Atlantic Council and advisor to the U.S. State Department, he helps leaders navigate today's most complex challenges and trains American diplomats in strategic foresight.

During his 21-year career as a U.S. Air Force intelligence officer, Jake founded the Pentagon's Strategic Foresight team and established the Center for Futures Intelligence at the National Intelligence University, where he taught America's military and intelligence leaders how to think about the future.

As Executive Director of Global Foresight and Strategy at Phaedrux Engineering, Jake brings cutting-edge insights on geopolitical shifts, artificial intelligence, energy security, and technological futures to clients worldwide. Recognized by LinkedIn as a "Top Voice" in Public Speaking and Operational Planning, he is a sought-after keynote speaker for global audiences.

Jake holds a Ph.D. in political science with a focus on geopolitical futures from the University of Hawaii at Manoa, along with degrees from Tufts University's Fletcher School, the Air Force School of Advanced Air and Space Studies, the Air Command and Staff College, and Norwich University. His insights have been featured in Harvard Business Review, The Diplomat, and The National Interest.

He is the author of The Revenge of Ideology: The Hidden Forces Reshaping Global Power (September 2025).
